

RUSSELL GIBBS FOR ZONE 14 DIRECTOR

As a third-generation beekeeper operating Gibbs Honey (est. 1934, Ontario's third-oldest apiary) alongside my wife and son, I know what it takes to build something that lasts.

For over 90 years, our family has adapted, grown and continued serving customers across Ontario. Today, we market our products province-wide and welcome visitors to our farm through agritourism. We are living the realities of modern agriculture every day.

I am stepping forward to ensure Zone 14's concerns are brought forward clearly, firmly and consistently at the provincial level.

Whether you're running thousands of acres, building a regenerative operation or managing a small CSA, the foundation of what all farmers do is the same:

- Protect and care for our land
- Keep our operations strong and profitable
- Prepare the next generation to carry it forward
- Make sure Ontario agriculture remains viable

That includes standing up for the land itself.

I will stand firmly against the proposed high-speed rail project that threatens productive agricultural land in our region. Our farmland is not disposable, it is essential to our livelihoods and to the future of agriculture in Ontario.

I'm not a politician. I'm a farmer who understands business, understands land stewardship and knows how to have direct conversations when they need to happen.

If you feel Zone 14 needs steady, practical representation, I would appreciate your support.
